LSAT Preparation?

Teachers

All of our Hyperlearning[®] LSAT instructors scored in the 98th percentile or better on the LSAT. Before reaching your Hyperlearning class, your instructor survived a teaching audition and an intensive training that spanned four weeks and pummeled lesser men and women.

We commit to putting only the best, most qualified people at the head of a Princeton Review classroom.

What does this all mean to you?

- Your teacher is an LSAT genius.
- Your teacher is charismatic and engaging.
- Your teacher is the best-trained and most highly motivated on the planet.
- Your teacher can show you how to attack and beat this test.

Programs

There are several ways to prepare for the LSAT with The Princeton Review. You can prep in a classroom with a small group of other highly motivated folks, in a group with 2 other LSAT test takers, one-on-one with a private tutor, or in our Accelerated or Weekender courses. Only you know which type of environment suits your learning style.

If you want a truly intense program, then take our Hyperlearning course. Just look at the numbers:

- 1 You'll have an amazing instructor who's scored in the 98th percentile on the LSAT.
- 84 You'll meet 24 times for a total of 84 hours of classroom instruction over 3 months.
- 6 You'll take 6 full-length, proctored, real LSATs.
- 53+ You'll get access to every single LSAT that's ever been administered (53 and counting, so far).
- 24/7 You'll be able to study anytime and from any place with 'round-the-clock access to our Online Student Center.
