Grades Matter

It's never too early to start thinking about where you want to go to college. Maybe you already have a dream school in mind; maybe you're excited to start researching schools.

No matter where you want to go, one thing is certain: GRADES MATTER.

Admissions officers believe the strongest indicator of a student's success in college classrooms is grades. They want to see that you've done well in class and challenged yourself along the way. In fact, when considering a potential student, most colleges weigh about 40% of their decision on just two things:

- 1. ACADEMIC RIGOR is one of the most important parts of the college application. Selective colleges seek students who challenge themselves and "level-up" their coursework. That means students should pursue honors, AP, and IB courses whenever they are available and a reasonable fit with a student's skills and strengths.
- 2. GPA will carry similar weight with the admission committee, so once students have selected courses that impress colleges, they have to earn the grades that show they can handle the challenge. It is easier to maintain a great GPA than it is to raise a poor one, so it is key to start early with good study habits, time management, and opportunities to get extra help!

Top grades for top-of-the-class students

The average GPA of admitted students in 200 of the most competitive universities is 3.81. †

More importantly, 98% of the top 200 schools consider GPA to be important and 88% say it's very important.

An A is the grade you need if you are looking at elite schools.
